

We Are TB

a supportive community of tuberculosis (TB) survivors, people in treatment, and family members
committed to the common goal of eliminating TB

We Are TB volunteers and friends celebrating after an advocacy training in Atlanta GA, 2019.

Anyone can get tuberculosis.

We Are TB is here for YOU. Talk to someone who understands.

We Are TB volunteers have been where you are right now. We understand. We're here to support you during diagnosis and treatment, through your struggles, triumphs, and fears.

During and beyond treatment, members of We Are TB can serve as advocates, raising awareness about TB, and sharing their personal story to educate and reduce the stigma of TB.

"My son Jackson was diagnosed at 6 months old after being seen time and time again by different doctors and ER visits. After 18+ months of treatment, Jack is now a healthy and happy 2 year old."

– Kristine, Texas

"It's important to understand that the enemy is the disease. Not the person who is the victim of it. TB patients... know that you are strong and resilient."

– Tenzin, Massachusetts

Let's talk.

Make a Difference.

Your personal story can help in the fight to get increased funding for TB care and research. We Are TB provides training and opportunities for people in treatment, TB survivors, and their families, to educate people about TB. We work with partners around the U.S. and the world to eliminate TB. Tell your story and End TB.

Empower others.
Educate the public.
Eliminate TB.

We're ready to show you how.

We advocate for better diagnostic and treatment options. We Are TB volunteers speak to lawmakers, attend regional and national conferences, and reach out through the press to represent those impacted by this stigmatized and misunderstood disease.
